

Institutional Effectiveness, Research, Planning, and Grants (IERPG)

Purpose and Goals

The IERPG Division's purpose is to support Cerritos College's mission, vision, and goals by providing accurate, timely, comprehensive, and relevant information to maintain the research, planning, and accountability processes of the college to advance student success and institutional excellence.

Student Population Served

We serve all students with the strategic pursuit of external funding opportunities that support innovative and sustainable instructional programs and pathways and student support services, along with a firm commitment to fiscal and programmatic compliance.

Number of Students Served Annually and Capacity

We serve all students by providing contextualized data and analyses to describe and evaluate the college; by proactively supporting others in using college data to its full benefit; and by improving quality of data and access to information produced by Institutional Research.

High-Impact Interventions

We developed data dashboards and have revamped the annual planning and program review processes.

Intended Impacts and Measured Outcomes

The intended impact of the data dashboards is to support the campus community with informed decision-making. The intended impact of revamping the annual planning and program review processes is to ensure continuous improvement at the program, division, and area levels in alignment with accreditation standards.

Did You Know?

IERPG supports the data coaching program, offering training to faculty participants to increase engagement in data-related conversations as it relates to their Learning and Career Pathways success team. IERPG's website hosts multiple data dashboards that display student performance information
