

Cerritos College Read(s)

Read with us! Cerritos College Read(s) is a new campus-wide initiative to develop a reading community centering on equity, local and global citizenship, intercultural understanding, and compassion to various human experiences. Cerritos College Read(s) will provide opportunities for book clubs, designing course activities and assignments, panel presentations, guest speakers, and much more. Students, faculty, staff, and managers who are interested in learning more and participating, please join us.

Educated: A Memoir is a tale of survival and struggle. Tara Westover started her formal education at age 17 after being kept out of school and put to work in the family scrap and herbal remedy businesses by her survivalist parents. Many Cerritos College students have experiences similar to the protagonist of coming from working families to transitioning into education as access to better opportunities in life.

The Distance Between Us: Grande depicts another side of the immigrant experience – the heartbreak of children left behind. Cerritos College, a Hispanic Serving Institution, is driven by the “pursuit of unparalleled student success and access to innovative learning opportunities” that promote and cultivate emotional and intellectual growth. Grande’s work provides us the opportunity to open ourselves up to such possibilities.
