

Distance Education Modality Definitions

Approved: May 10, 2022,

Revised: February 25, 2025

Approved Definitions:

- Online: All instruction and interaction are online with no mandatory synchronous nor in-person meetings.
 - Live Remote/Online: There are required scheduled remote meetings in real-time that are noted in the schedule of classes. All instruction and interaction are online.
 - Hybrid: There is a combination of scheduled in-person or live remote meetings and online asynchronous teaching and learning with regular and effective interaction in both modalities.
 - Online with Required Activities: All instruction and interaction will take place online except for either noted assessments and/or specified activities, which will be in person or remote.
 - Hyflex:
 - Faculty Facing Definition: Faculty integrate 3 modalities (in-person, remote, and online-asynchronous) simultaneously, providing equivalent learning experiences leading to equivalent outcomes. Interaction is integrated across all three modalities, allowing students the flexibility to choose how to participate.
 - Student Facing Definition: Students will have the flexibility to participate in-person, remote, and/or online asynchronously.
