

Program Definition for Instructional Program Review (IPR)

Approved: May 13, 2025

Program: In an instructional program review context, a program is defined as a course of study offered by an institution of higher education that either directly or indirectly leads to an academic or professional degree, certificate, or other recognized educational credential. This definition does not prohibit the college from defining and operating non-academic services or operational functions as instructional programs (e.g., a TRIO program).

NOTES:

- This definition requires certain departments to complete two reviews (instructional and administrative/student services).
