

SUPERHERO

"HUMANIZING YOUR ONLINE CLASS"

During this pandemic, besides indulging in the guilty pleasures of Starbucks and binge-watching shows like Kim's Convenience, Janet has been busy creating DE materials and certification pathways for Cerritos College. She is beyond ready to travel outside of her house and continue to see the world.

JANET MITCHELL-LAMBERT

In 1993, Janet began teaching at Crenshaw High School. LAUSD's District Internship program set the foundation for her pedagogy which focuses on equity, humanizing, and supporting the development of student voice. She taught and wrote curriculum for their credentialing program as well as created a Teachers Helping Teachers retention program. In 2002, she began teaching at the cc level. Besides teaching faculty Canvas courses and creating online English curriculum, she presents regularly at conferences, including MLA, NADE, CADE, CAP, and OnCourse. She is also passionate about multimodal composition and African-American literature. In addition to teaching, she is a DE Coordinator and teaches for @ONE
