

2026 Women's History Month Presents

An Introduction to Feminist Epistemologies

Wednesday, March 25

11 a.m. – 12:15 p.m.

SS 307

Presented by Will Mittendorf

Epistemology is the study of knowledge and traditionally philosophers have focused on abstract concepts such as belief, knowing, justification, and truth. Recently there has been a social turn in epistemology, mainly driven by feminist philosophers who focus more on the reality that power and identity often shape knowledge and knowers.
